The ordinance allowing the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company the privilege of erecting poles through the streets of the city, was passed. The ordinance grants the city the right of placing pollee and fire alarm wires upon these poles, said poles to be near and symmetrical, and not less than twenty feet high. This ordinance was passed with the provision that the city reserve the right of repealing the ordinance.

The in-urance ordinance in regard to ordinance provides that all solicitors of insurance for foreign companies, shall pay $20.00 for one company, and if they have more than one, $10.00 for each company. Mr. Goodfellow made a little speech against this ordinance, the substance of which was that the license was too low, and moved that $50.00 be inserted, instead of $20.00. Mr. Handlan spoke in favor of the ordinance, and was followed by Alfred Caldwell, Esq., in opposition to it. earlier next season.

This is Mr. Campbell's second visit to our city, his former one being on the occasion of the meeting of the Convention which erected the new State of West Virginia in 1861. He at that time represented the Cincinnati Empirier. He is an old newspaper man, having, he says, been connected with every daily in Pittsburgh. His last journalistic work there was as editor-in-chief of the ill-fated "The Paper." He was also at one time official reporter of the Louisiana Legislature, and his fund of reminiscences of those days is rich. In fact, there are few subjects that Mr. Campbell cannot illustrate with an apt aneodote, and he tells a story with skill, and in a manner peculiar to himself. His first dramatic effort was a little comedy for a hencit performance for a friend, and he says this was such a failure he was compelled to write something else to redeem his reputation.

THE WEST POINT CONUNDRUM. The English Lutheran Church on Sixteenth street presented an animated of the court this morning the testimony scene last night, the occasion being the marriage of Rev. Philip A. Heilman, of the of Cadet Whittaker was read in his pre-Lutheran Church at Lock-Haven, Pa., to corrections. Miss Jane Bennett, a young lady prominent in good works in this city.

THE HIGH CONTRACTING PARTIES.
Rev. P. A. Heilman is of one of the old Pennsylvania families, his parents residing at Muncy Station, Lycoming county, Pennsylvania. Educated at Wittenburg College and Theological Seminary of the Untheran Church, at Spring field, O., he graduated with credit to himself and the Church, and recently was chosen Pastor at Lock Haven, Pa., whither he takes his wife to assume the duties of a minister's wife. Miss Jane Bennett is well known to the people of Wheeling, having for a number of years been active in the Sunnet Congregation of the English Luthers an Denomination on Sixteenth street, and also as Secretary of the Lady Manager of the Chidrens Home. Her ready pen has so casionally been used in reporting Home and Church news for this paper, and we in common with many others, while offering congratulations on her happy marriage, regret to lose so active a worker from our community. Miss Bennet having many friends, naturally brought together a large company at the beautiful little church. The admission was by ticket of invitation only, and the result was a most orderly and admirably behaved assembly.

were William Hamilton and Henry Myers dressed in full suit of black with white vests, white kid gloves and button-hole bouquets. They acted well their parts. The door keepers were Messrs. Thos. B. Smith, William Huggins and John Vogel.

THE BRIDAL COUPLE executed in admirable style the wedding march. The bride was dressed in a silk of grape color, trimmed with Languedoc lace and fresh flowers—lilies of the valley predominating. The groom wore clerical attre, departing only from the conventional in wearing white vest and white kid gloves.
